

Here's what's coming in the June issue of *Compliance & Ethics Professional

And for prospective SCCE members, here's a peek at what you're missing. Don't miss out on another issue of Compliance & Ethics Professional. Become an SCCE member and receive this monthly magazine, valuable compliance and ethics resources, discounts on events, and much more. Click here to join SCCE today.

Meet Lynette Fons, Chief Compliance Officer and member of the Mayor's Executive Staff, City of Houston

– An interview by Dan Roach

Meet Louis Perold, Compliance Officer, Pretoria, South Africa

– by Art Weiss

Discovery in False Claims Act cases when the government declines to intervene

– by Winston Y. Chan and Joseph Tartakovsky

Practical advice for defendants to level the playing field by pursuing discovery in qui tam actions.

Also available on these devices

The science art of third-party due diligence

– by John Baird

A step-by-step approach to investigating potential third-party business associates before a contract is signed.

Don't let ethics be left unsaid

– by Lyndsay C. Tanner

Defining “ethics” isn’t always easy, and that’s why training about the company’s code of ethics is essential.

Ten outrageous bribes from around the world

– by Nitish Singh, Brendan Keating, and Thomas Bussen

A look at just how far people can go in their idiosyncratic demands for favors.

Letter from the CEO

We will all pay for the lack of compliance officer independence

– by Roy Snell

Boehme of contention

The Rise of Compliance 2.0!

– by Donna Boehme

The other side of the story

Effective compliance program in Brazil

– by Shin Jae Kim

EU compliance and regulation

UK Bribery Act update

– by Robert Bond

A view from abroad

Are you confident it's confidential?

– by Sally March

Social Skills

Facebook research woes

– by Melody Haase

Compliance, life, and everything else

Doing less with less

– by Thomas R. Fox

Byrne on governance

Trends in shareholder activism

– by Erica Salmon Byrne

Online

Android

iPhone/iPad

Kindle

The last word

Making SCCE's code part of your compliance program

– by Joe Murphy

Binding Corporate Rules: From data transfer solution to privacy compliance strategy

– by Jan Dhont, Alyssa Cervantes, and Delphine Charlot

This is the first of a four-part series about data privacy compliance and the exchange of information on a global scale.

The Red Baron and compliance: A tale of success and failure

– by Alexandre da Cunha Serpa

What a German WWI flying ace can teach us about following the rules.

ISO 19600:2014 Compliance management systems: Guidelines

– by A. Lillian Wylie

The new system may help codify the patchwork of best practices and guidelines currently in use in multiple sectors, industries, and countries.

A tale of shipwrecks, human trafficking, and modern-day slavery

– by Michael Salvarezza and Christopher P. Weaver

Forced labor conditions exist today in virtually every country, including the U.S., and businesses are responsible for what goes on in their supply chains.

Intercollegiate Ethics Bowl: For more than just students

– by Jeremy Beakley

This annual competition helps students understand moral reasoning and see the various sides of ethical dilemmas.

2015 European Compliance & Ethics Institute: A big year for global compliance

– by Kortney Nordum and Adam Turteltaub

Spotlight Interview: CEI: The Advanced Discussion Group track

– an interview with Al Gagne by Adam Turteltaub

Compliance & Ethics Professional readers can earn CCB CEUs by reading selected pieces and taking a short quiz for each issue of the magazine.

Society of Corporate Compliance & Ethics

6500 Barrie Road, Suite 250

Minneapolis, MN 55435

United States of America

888-277-4977

| service@corporatecompliance.org

www.corporatecompliance.org