

Compliance & Ethics Professional

November
2014

A PUBLICATION OF THE SOCIETY OF CORPORATE COMPLIANCE AND ETHICS

www.corporatecompliance.org

Meet John DeLong

Director of Compliance for the National Security Agency
2009-2014

See page 14

19

Government-funded business: Ensuring a successful contract
compliance program

Larry Schultz

33

HP settlement revisits US standards for compliance programs: UK to follow?

David R. Birk and Sepideh Moghadam

39

The true value
of compliance:
Communication,
penalties, and rewards

Brandon Ledford

67

"Knock, knock":
A primer on search warrants for the Compliance team

Peter C. Anderson

by Roy Snell, CHC, CCEP-F

Who is Adam Turteltaub?

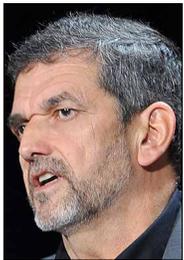

Please don't hesitate to call me about anything any time.

612 709-6012 Cell • 952 933-8009 Direct

roy.snell@corporatecompliance.org

@RoySnellSCCE in /in/roysnell

I was just named to the National Law Journal's list of Governance, Risk & Compliance Trailblazers & Pioneers and I have been on the Ethisphere Business Ethics lists a couple times. They go to great lengths not only to get the right people but a diverse group of people. I appreciate being on these lists. However, we have a lot of people in the Compliance and Ethics profession that have helped our profession and they go largely unnoticed. When I see these lists, the one thing that goes through my mind pretty quickly is, "Who isn't on the list... who should be?"

Snell

Adam Turteltaub is one of those people. He is the VP of Membership Development here at the Society of Corporate Compliance and Ethics. Some people instinctively know what to do and do what they are asked. Adam is that guy. Point him a direction and he takes care of the rest. He has never held the role of a compliance officer, but knows more about the role of a compliance officer and the function of a compliance program than a lot of the people who get on these lists. He is interested in everything. Adam likes to help people, network with people, and educate people in the Compliance and Ethics profession. He knows everyone. He is smart, funny, efficient, and an amazing writer.

He is like the guy on the baseball team who can and will do anything. He can play any position. He is everywhere and nowhere.

When the press shows up they walk by him to talk to Derek Jeter. But the manager knows. The manager knows who contributes what, how often, and how consistently.

Adam likes to help people, network with people, and educate people in the compliance and ethics profession. He knows everyone. He is smart, funny, efficient, and an amazing writer.

Adam has never forgotten anything he has heard or read. He loves baseball parks and his family. He is way too tall. He has a story for every occasion. He can make anyone and everyone feel comfortable and at home instantly. He will do anything for his colleagues at work... nothing is beneath him. He stuffs bags behind the curtain at conferences. He can moderate a panel or interview a dignitary in front of a couple thousand people unlike anyone else I know. He will stop what he is doing and approach that lone person at the conference who is new to our profession and could benefit from a little attention. Who is Adam Turteltaub? He is the guy that should be on these lists. *